

People had a newspaper to learn the news. The Journal is a news-paper, giving all sides of all questions of public interest. This policy has caused it to make a net gain during the past six months of - - - - -

1,000
a
Day

NEW YORK JOURNAL

The people want to know both sides of the money question. The Journal gives both sides. Since it began to advocate the election of the Democratic ticket it has made a net gain in circulation of - - - - -

NO. 5,002.

NEW YORK, MONDAY, JULY 27, 1896.—12 PAGES.—COPYRIGHT, 1896, BY W. E. HEARST.

PRICE ONE C

LABOR UNIONS AFTER HANNA.

Committees En Route from Four Cities to Investigate
McKinley's Friend.

Chairman's Alleged Attitude as a
"Labor Crusher" to See the Light of Day.

Hanna's Hurried but Futile Efforts to Get Indorsements from Cleveland Unions.

MCKINLEY AND HANNA TO CONSULT.

Republican Candidate Now in Cleveland to Confer with His Manager on the Ways and Means of the Coming Campaign.

Cleveland, Ohio, July 26.—Committees have been delegated by labor unions in several cities to investigate Chairman Hanna's attitude toward that mighty element, and McKinley's manager is now engaged in the difficult task of getting the Cleveland Central Labor Union to call off the dogs of war. Immediately after the arrival of the information regarding the appointment of the committees, Hanna commenced his efforts to get an indorsement from the labor organizations of this city. Hanna was in a hurry about the matter, too, as he wanted to settle the existing differences before the investigators revealed his record as a labor destroyer. Hanna was instrumental in killing the Seamen's Union of the great lakes, and the evidence of his labor-crushing ability he fears will be employed to assist in the defeat of McKinley.

Committees Are En Route.
Committees are on their way here from New York, Boston, Chicago and Kansas City to look up Hanna's record. Naturally, they will go to the president of the Central Labor Union, Peter Witt, a fiery young Populist, who is president of that organization and who makes his hatred for McKinley and his manager plainly manifest at all times.

A young man, who enjoys Hanna's confidence, was selected to perform the diplomatic task of arranging for a meeting between Hanna and Witt. It was thought best not to shock the labor leader, and accordingly, Hanna's confidential friend secured the services of another young man, better acquainted with Witt than himself. The latter went to the Central Labor

Continued on Second Page.

KILLED FOR A BURGLAR.

Chicago Man Shoots His Father-in-Law, Mistaking Him in the Dead of Night for an Intruder.

Chicago, July 26.—Daniel Shroyer, aged seventy-eight, was shot and killed early this morning by his son-in-law, George E. Pollinger, who mistook him for a burglar. Pollinger is a well-known real estate dealer in the fashionable Hyde Park district. The killing occurred at the home of the son-in-law, No. 5711 Ingleside avenue. Pollinger, as soon as he realized the dreadful mistake he had made, was distracted with grief, and his wife went into hysterics. The police were at once notified, and excited neighbors congregated, thinking the murder had been done by thieves. The dead man was a retired farmer of moderate means. His home was at Park Ridge. Two weeks ago he received an invitation to spend a few days at the home of his son-in-law, and accepted. Mrs. Pollinger heard a noise in the house as of a burglar opening a window. She awoke her husband and told him of her suspicions. Taking his revolver, he started to investigate. As he was about to enter the kitchen he saw the form of a man approaching him, and fired.

Instantly the man cried out: "My God, I'm shot!" and as quickly Pollinger recognized the voice as that of his father-in-law. Shroyer died at 4:30 o'clock, without having regained consciousness. In running from the house to summon a physician, Pollinger was himself mistaken for a thief, and narrowly escaped being shot. He is held, pending a coroner's investigation.

STOLE A STONY FATHER.

Sons of a Petrified Corpse Hunting Two Showmen Who Dug Up the Body for Exhibition.

Fargo, N. D., July 26.—The exhibitors of a petrified man's body, which was shown here, have stolen a march on the sons of the dead man by running the body over into Manitoba. The sons of the dead man, Emable and Antoine Le Count, had come here from Minnesota, and had sworn out warrants against Homes and McPherson, the exhibitors, charging them with grave robbery. There was some delay pending the hearing of an application for requisition to Warren, Minn., where the body was dug up after being buried for forty years, and the exhibitors took advantage of it to get beyond the reach of the authorities. The Le Counts will follow them into Canada and endeavor to recover the stony remains of their father.

MINERS IN MENACING MOOD.

Angry at Evictions for Not Buying More at the Company Store.

Hazleton, Pa., July 26.—There is much uneasiness among the employees of the Silver Brook Coal Company, at Silver Brook, and serious trouble seems imminent. It is due to the action of the company in evicting those miners from their houses who do not patronize sufficiently the company store, known as the Silver Brook Supply Company Store. The miners are first told they are not leaving enough money in the store, and if they do not increase the amount they are then given ten days to leave the houses. Among those notified to leave are Michael Callahan, road foreman; Hugh Boyle, breaker boss; James O'Donnell, inside foreman, and Bernard McCauley and Patrick O'Donnell, miners. Dr. J. S. Wentz, the operator, lives in Washington, and it is believed he is not aware of the action of his subordinates.

THIS MAY SPLIT THE CABINET.

Resignation of Hoke Smith
Might Lead to Further Complications.

Postmaster-General Wilson and Secretary Carlisle Will Support
Mr. Bryan.

Three Members of President Cleveland's Council Will Refuse to Bolt the Ticket.

SMITH WILL AGAIN TURN EDITOR.

Secretary Carlisle Not Yet Prepared to Quit Politics, While Mr. Wilson Is Anxious to Again Become a Congressman.

Washington, July 26.—While Secretary Hoke Smith refuses to admit the fact, there is no doubt that he has determined to leave the Cabinet, as exclusively published in last Saturday's Journal. He has made up his mind to support the regular Democratic ticket—with all the influences he possesses, and, in his opinion, that calls for his resignation. The resignation of the President. Secretary Smith will wait for events to develop any difference between the President and himself with regard to current politics. The situation in which he is placed strikes him as one of extreme delicacy. He has no doubt whatever of the

"HUMAN DOCUMENTS."

Mr. and Mrs. Bryan from Their Infancy, with the New Generation of Bryans.

MRS. W. J. BRYAN, WIFE OF THE DEMOCRATIC CANDIDATE FOR PRESIDENT.

BRYAN AND JONES IN CONFERENCE.

Chairman of the National Committee Arrives in Lincoln, Neb.

Is Driven at Once to the Home of the Democratic Candidate for President.

An Earnest Consultation Is Held Concerning the Democratic and Populist Tickets.

MR. BRYAN'S MAIL ACCUMULATING.

Has Been Compelled to Take into His Employment Three Additional Clerks and Even Then He Is Being Completely Swamped.

Lincoln, Neb., July 26.—Senator Jones, of Arkansas, arrived in Lincoln this evening and was immediately driven to the residence of Mr. Bryan, where an earnest conference was held on subjects of much importance to the Democratic and Populist parties.

In spite of its importance as a political centre, having two candidates for the Presidency—Mr. Bryan and Mr. Bentley, the Prohibition-silver nominee—as citizens, Lincoln is a very quiet place these days. Mr. Bryan has been seen little by Lincoln people.

MR. BRYAN AT DIFFERENT AGES.

When he was five years old.

A junior at college in 1880.

On graduating from college in 1881.

As he looked ten years ago in 1896.

MR. VANDERBILT GOES SECRETLY TO NEWPORT.

Accompanied by Doctors Draper and McLane He Is Taken on His Son's Yacht.

No Member of the Distinguished Patient's Family Was with the Party.

EFFORTS TO GET AWAY UNOBSERVED.

Mr. Depew Diplomatically Said He "Knew Nothing Positively" as He Had Just Returned from the Country, but "Thought It Probable."

Cornelius Vanderbilt was quietly removed to Newport yesterday. Accompanied by physicians and nurses, he was taken on board his son's yacht with much secrecy, and Newport was reached some time yesterday afternoon.

The yacht Conqueror docked at the West Shore ferry, on the Jersey side, Saturday afternoon. She was kept under steam all night, ready to sail at a moment's notice.

At 6:30 o'clock yesterday morning two carriages drove up to the side entrance of the Vanderbilt house. In a short time several servants appeared loaded with hand baggage. This was tossed into one of the carriages, and almost immediately Cornelius Vanderbilt, walking, but supported on either side by Drs. Draper and McLane, appeared in the doorway and was assisted into the carriage, followed by the physicians. Two nurses entered another carriage and the party was at once driven to the West Shore ferry.

No member of the Vanderbilt family accompanied the invalid on his journey. When the Jersey shore was reached Mr. Vanderbilt was at once taken aboard the Conqueror, which immediately steamed down the river.

Every effort was made to keep the fact of Mr. Vanderbilt's removal as secret as possible. All information was refused at the house. A stable keeper in the neighborhood as well as the policeman on post recognized Mr. Vanderbilt when he was assisted into the carriage.

Mr. Depew said that he knew nothing positively about the removal of Mr. Vanderbilt, as he had just returned from the country, but he thought it was very probable that he had gone to Newport, as he had been improving rapidly in health and the doctors thought he was able to stand the journey.

Cornelius Vanderbilt, Jr., whose engagement to Miss Grace Wilson is said to have led to the quarrel between Mr. Vanderbilt and his son, which immediately preceded his attack, remains in town. Miss Wilson is at Bay Shore, L. I.

To Support the Ticket.

Secretary Carlisle and Postmaster-General Wilson are the only other members of the Cabinet who are expected to support the Democratic ticket. Unless the Secretary of the Treasury shall change his mind, he will

(Continued on Second Page.)

MRS. BRYAN AT DIFFERENT AGES.

As she appeared when six years old.

A school girl in her teens.

On graduating at Jacksonville, Ill., in 1881.

Graduate from the law school in 1881.

SHOT WHILE AT PRAYER.

Mrs. William Marshall Receives a Charge of Shot While at Her Child's Grave.

Mrs. William Marshall, of No. 231 Third street, Jersey City, received a charge of shot in the breast yesterday afternoon while kneeling in prayer at the grave of her little daughter. Her husband, who stood at her side, was also struck by some of the shot. The gun was fired either by John Graver, of Second and Monmouth streets, or Peter Helling, of No. 19 Mallory avenue. Mr. and Mrs. Marshall went to the Hudson County Catholic Cemetery about 5 o'clock. After arranging some flowers on their daughter's grave the mother knelt down to pray. A moment later two reports of a gun were heard and Mrs. Marshall fell forward on the grave.

Marshall felt the sting of the leaden shot and knew he had been hit. His wife was unconscious when he picked her up. With the assistance of the superintendent of the cemetery the injured woman was carried to the office. She was attended by a surgeon, and removed to her home in a carriage. Marshall was only slightly wounded by the shot.

Graver and Helling were arrested by Detective Larkins, of the Seventh Precinct. Helling acknowledged firing the shotgun. He said there had been a birthday celebration at his home, and that the shotgun had been discharged in honor of the party. He fired first, Graver afterward, he said.

Graver denies firing a shot. Mr. Marshall says that it was the second shot that wounded his wife.

Dr. Fitzgerald says that Mrs. Marshall's escape from death was a narrow one, the shot entering an eighth of an inch from the heart. She was suffering greatly from shock last night.

President Remains at Home.
Buzard's Bay, Mass., July 26.—As is his usual custom, the President remained at home all day. There were no callers. He did not attend the trial exercises of the late ex-Governor E. Russell, at Sandwich, to-day, as expected.

William Jennings Bryan, Jr.

Grace and Ruth Bryan.